ACOUSTIC ROOTS DUO

MUDFISH

A woman with long hair, wearing a dark top, is playing a light-colored electric guitar and singing into a microphone. The background is a warm, orange-red gradient.

Mudfish is a roots-driven duo made up of Tex Mudslide (guitar, banjo, harmonica, vocals) and Georgia Fisher (mandolin, guitar, vocals) that blends deep blues, energetic folk and gritty Americana.

Tex Mudslide is best known as the frontman for blues/rock band The Hounds of Thunder, bringing rock & roll energy to acoustic roots music.

Georgia Fisher is a Peterborough-based songwriter who brings a gritty, alt-country take to the stories and characters she's collected.

Live performances are a mixture of originals and covers that run from classic country to acoustic blues to folk and pay tribute to influences like Townes Van Zandt, The Band, Tom Waits and Bob Dylan.
